In short

The Matra Rule of Law Training Programme is designed to strengthen institutional capacity in the field of rule of law within government organisations in the Western Balkan, Georgia, Moldova, Turkey and Ukraine. To this end seven training programmes are offered per year, each introducing the participants to best practices in a wide range of rule of law themes. Through interactive sessions combining theory, practical skills and study visits, policy advisors, members of the judiciary and other civil servants working in the government and justice sectors acquire the knowledge and skills necessary to drive reforms in their home countries. In addition, by taking part in the training programme, participants become part of a large transnational network of alumni, lecturers and relevant government departments in the Netherlands and in the target countries. This network offers a platform for learning, exchange and collaboration.

The Matra Rule of Law Training Programme is designed and delivered by the Netherlands Helsinki Committee, Leiden Law School, and The Hague Academy for Local Governance. It is financed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Netherlands, initially for a period of two years (2017- 2018).

Target audience

This training on Public Finance Management (PFM) is intended for civil servants working in the field of PFM – either in the field of taxation or in Public Expenditure Management. The aim is to further enhance their knowledge and skills, thus enabling them to lead and inspire in their home countries.

Participants will be expected to offer a valuable and active contribution to the learning process and be in a position to implement the newly gained knowledge and insights in their respective organisation. The maximum number of participants is 36. The total will represent a balance in gender and a balance in the number of participants from the individual countries.

Introduction

In its relations with pre-accession and Eastern Partnership countries, the European Union requires stable government institutions that should be able to guarantee democracy, rule of law, human rights and protection of minorities. In this respect a sound system of Public Finance Management is of tremendous importance as it provides the very foundation for a democratic State governed by the rule of law. Both the taxation system and the management of the State budget must meet – and must be perceived by the public to meet – the highest standards. This requires continuous reflection on key themes such as effectiveness and efficiency; integrity and transparency; communication and innovation, also in the light of technical developments.

The Dutch public financial management system is internationally acknowledged for its transparency and high level of decentralization. Strong independent institutions safeguard the system's integrity and independence, protecting it from excessive political and personal influence.

The training Public Finance Management (PFM) offers a tailor-made programme allowing professionals to discuss key issues amongst themselves and with leading academics and experienced colleagues from the Dutch civil service. Part of the programme is offered by the highly reputed National Academy for Finance and Economics of the Dutch Ministry of Finance.

Objectives

The training programme aims to offer – on the one hand – a thorough introduction into the system of Dutch taxation, and – on the other hand – a comprehensive insight into the management of expenditures in the Netherlands: the process of preparing, implementing, monitoring, reporting and spending reviews of the budget. The programme will encourage the participants to reflect on the situation in their own country, to identify areas for reform and to nurture exchange on practises in other countries. In addition, knowledge and skills to develop a sustainable policy for the improvement of PFM will be enhanced. Special attention will be paid to obstacles and dilemmas in the implementation process and how to overcome them.

Approach and structure

By being demand-driven in nature and by stimulating active participation, the training programme strives to achieve lasting results. At the end of the course participants are sufficiently equipped to implement the newly gained knowledge and insights in their respective organisations. The training programme offers a careful balance between the following three, mutually reinforcing, components:

- Theory
- Practical skills
- Study visits

A social programme will facilitate network development between the participants from the various countries as well as between the participants and their Dutch counterparts.

On completion of the training, participants will:

- Have insight in the importance of a sound system of Public Finance Management as the foundation for democracy and the rule of law;
- Know how the Dutch policy for taxation and management of the State budget is shaped and organised;
- Be able to use the acquired knowledge and best practices as a source of inspiration for dealing with challenges related to PFM in their own countries;

- Be trained in the practical application of specific subjects and in a number of needed practical skills;
- Have had the opportunity to share knowledge and experiences, and be able to continue doing so through the network that has been established during the training;
- Have had the opportunity to create new professional cross-border networking relations.

Upon successful completion of the programme – which includes attendance to all components of the programme – participants will receive a certificate indicating the topic of the course and the number of training hours.

Experts

All contributors to the programme are carefully selected. They include leading academics and experienced government officials who work on a daily basis in the Netherlands public financial management system.

Admission requirements

Important points on which the selection of participants will largely be based are:

- The participant should clearly demonstrate his/her professional interest in a training on PFM, and the use he/she would make of the insights gained from the training.
- The participant should have an academic degree and about 5 to 10 years of working experience.
- The participant should have a good command of English (translation will not be provided during the course).
- The participant should be highly motivated and enthusiastic.
- The participant should be comfortable sharing his/her knowledge with fellow participants (presentations during the programme and regular knowledge sharing in the digital learning environment will be required).
- The participant should be in the position to devote time and attention to the training programme prior to and after the 10-day training in the Netherlands. Before the training the participants will have to complete a preparatory assignment and after the training the participants will implement and report on a concrete action plan developed by themselves during the training.
- Participant should submit a signed employer's statement granting permission to participate in the training programme.

How to apply

Please read the admission requirements carefully. Candidates who satisfy all of the requirements may proceed to complete the application form which is available at www.nhc.nl/matrarolt.

Qualified applicants must submit a letter from their employer showing that they have authorisation to attend this training programme.

Application forms need to be submitted in full to be eligible for selection. Admission will be on a merit and competitive basis.

Successfully uploaded applications will receive an automatic e-mail confirmation.
