CALL FOR PROPOSALS

MONITORING, ADVOCACY AND COALITION BUILDING FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS, ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE & ANTICORRUPTION GRASS ROOTS CSOS

Background

Against the background of concerning shrinking civic space trends in the European Union (EU), this project aims to contribute to creating an enabling environment for civil society in five EU Member States that are in acute need of civil society strengthening: Romania, Bulgaria, Croatia, Slovenia, and Portugal. The project will allow Civil Society Organisations (CSO's) working on women's rights, environmental justice, and anti-corruption to be more effective in the promotion of EU values, be more resilient to threats, and be able to quickly respond to concerning trends affecting space for civil society in their respective countries. This will ultimately lead to better protection, promotion, and acknowledgment of the EU fundamental rights and values in the target countries and, consequently, will contribute to strengthening respect for the EU values at the EU level too. To address these concerning developments, the project will contribute to:

- Enhancing civil society's response to new trends affecting democratic and civic space and civil society;
- Strengthening effectiveness, accountability and sustainability of grassroots CSOs;
- Enhancing visibility and understanding of the work of grassroots CSOs supported by the project.

Objective of the Call

The objective of the Third Call for Proposals is to strengthen the communication capacity of grassroots civil society organisations (CSOs) working in the fields of women's rights, environmental justice, and anti-corruption across five EU Member States: Romania, Bulgaria, Croatia, Slovenia, and Portugal.
